

Health Interest Questionnaire

The Health Interest Questionnaire (HIQ) available on the Navy and Marine Corps Public Health Center (NMCPHC) website is a tool that can assist Navy and Marine Corps commands in assessing the health interests of personnel at their command, which is an important and essential part of conducting their Command Health Promotion Assessment. The NMCPHC is the Program Administrator for this tool; therefore commands will need to notify the Program Administrator at NMCPHC to obtain their command report when using the HIQ as part of their Command Health Promotion Assessment.

To utilize the HIQ, commands should appoint someone at the command as the HIQ Point of Contact (POC). This tool will generally be used when conducting the Command Health Promotion Assessment and so, in most cases, the HIQ POC will be the Command Health Promotion Coordinator or Officer, who will also be responsible for conducting the entire Command Health Promotion Assessment.

The report for the HIQ is analyzed by command Unit Identification Code or UIC. To begin the process, command personnel should all be made aware of the command UIC.

Command personnel should then be instructed to go to the HIQ website at:

<http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/2V26BLH> to complete the HIQ, including the insertion of the command UIC where instructed.

It is recommended that command personnel be given a definite time frame for completing the HIQ (i.e. 2-4 week period).

Once the deadline has passed for command personnel to complete the HIQ, an E-mail should be sent to Bob MacDonald, the NMCPHC HIQ Program Administrator at: Michael.R.MacDonald@med.navy.mil, requesting that he produce an HIQ report for the command, giving Bob the command UIC and the time period for the report (i.e. 1-31 January 2011).

Note: Due to licensure restrictions, this tool can only be used by Navy and Marine Corps commands.